WELCOME TO A2J AUTHOR

Access to Justice Author (A2J Author®) is a cloud based software tool that delivers greater access to justice for self-represented litigants by enabling non-technical authors from the courts, clerk's offices, legal services organizations, and law schools to rapidly build and implement user friendly web-based interfaces for document assembly.

These interfaces, called A2J Guided Interviews, take complex legal information from legal forms and present it in a straightforward way to self-represented litigants. A2J Guided Interviews remove many of the barriers faced by self-represented litigants, allowing them to easily complete and print court documents that are ready to be filed with the court system. Those robust features have led to proven results - 3.5 million A2J Guided Interviews run and 2 million documents assembled since 2005.

A2J Author is available free to interested court, legal services organizations, and other non-profits for non-commercial use.

Common Form

composable, verifiable, shareable legal contracts

Common Form is a computer language for legal forms. It allows software to express not just legal text, but the sections, references, definitions, and placeholders that give it structure. Programs that speak Common Form can work together to solve problems word processors and document assemblers can't.

Both the language of Common Form and computer code to use it are licensed, free of charge, on highly permissive, professionally drafted open-source terms. The code is neatly divided into small building blocks that are easy to reuse in other projects.

The Common Form team has written some programs to show a bit of what's possible. You can see them working together at commonform.org:

This panel is concerned with addressing the importance of being political as a creator, as the representative of a business or organization, and as a streamer. The purpose of this talk is to help empower people by talking openly about the risks and gains of struggling in a landscape that demands conformity and the continued repression of identities.
