

Oath of Professionalism as a Law Student:
Class of 2011, Washburn University School of Law

Authors: [names deleted]

I, _____, as a student of the law, hereby swear to respect my fellow students' opinions and viewpoints. I understand that everyone brings a different background to our learning environment and will appreciate what they have to contribute. Over the next three years, I will strive to learn to the best of my ability while not impeding others' opportunities for academic growth. I will not hinder or begrudge others' successes but will, instead, maintain a personal standard of excellence. I will appreciate the institution of law and its dynamic history while constantly striving to apply it in a manner that betters my community. I will take an ethical and moral approach to law school, which will prepare me for a successful career in the legal field.
